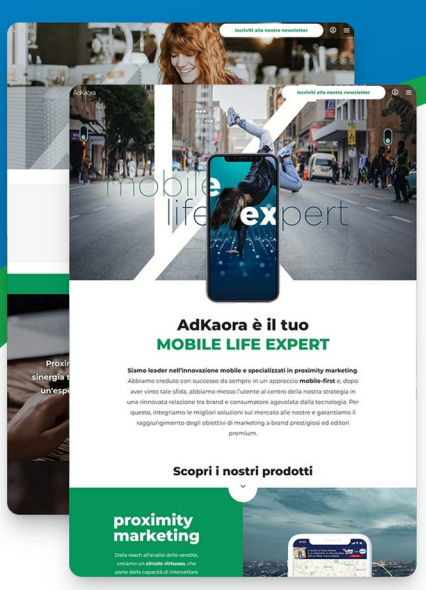
Recent Projects



adkaora.com

I built this website from scratch as a solo project using Gatsby and React, following the design provided by the company. The site's content is managed through a headless CMS, Contentful. To ensure compliance with regulations, I implemented Iubenda, a comprehensive solution for legal compliance. For user authentication, Amazon Cognito was utilized, providing secure and seamless login functionality. Additionally, Google Analytics was integrated to provide detailed analytics and insights.

a2aenergia.eu

Through a collaboration with hinto.com, I developed numerous frontend components for the website using Gatsby and React. This project involved a team of several individuals, and we utilized Figma and Jira for seamless collaboration. The result is a visually appealing and highly functional website that showcases the expertise and dedication of the team.
